Drill Team Helps Lead the Way to Spirit

Attending games and performing at the pep assemblies, the Drill Team provided support for our players.

Lisa Pipkin, Cecilia White, Lisa Becherer, Tracy Underwood, Sheila Mosley, Kathi Taylor, Ramona Filippo, Dawn Crider, Kristine Doherty, Lena Gibson, Wendy Lawson, Nancy Rozell, Melinda VanDusen, Jaque Opela, Tina Collier, Tammy Ingram, Gayla Bunch, Kay Novotny.

The Drill Team has come a long way this year. At the beginning there were only two girls that were experienced and the rest of the girls had never even been to Drill Team camp. But with a lot of hard work, they soon had a good Drill Team ready to perform at all the games and pep assemblies. This was one of the first years in a long time that no tryouts were required and the class was open to ninth graders. The Drill Team plans to attend camp this year so that next year's Drill Team can be even better. You've done a great job Drill Team!!!

The eighth grade is on top . . . for now. Being the oldest at the Middle School is lots of fun. Most all eighth graders love to harass the sixth and seventh graders to show their seniority over them. But next year when they'll be freshmen at high school they might change their ways because they will be the ones being picked on. They'll have to start over next year, but they are enjoying being "top dog" right now.

Seventh graders always seem to be in the middle of things. In the middle grade, in the middle of being a "kid" and a "teenager," and in the middle of messes! Just ask any parent, teacher, brother, or sister what a seventh grader's favorite pastime is and they will probably tell you talking on the telephone and girlfriends or boyfriends.

The sixth graders are definitely moving up. Everything in the Middle School is new to them — new teachers, new time schedules, new sports, and ways of doing things. But they'll get used to all of it and move right on up the ladder.

At this time, I would like to extend a special thank you to the people at Prague National Bank, First National Bank, and Local Federal.

Their support enabled us to have color senior pages. "Thank you" annual staff for your time and effort. Good Luck graduates of "84!"
